

EXECUTIVE PROTECTION

Protect your execs from phishing scams

Fake executive profiles, leaked credentials, and impersonation scams put your organization at risk. Styx Intelligence finds them and shuts them down before they become an incident.

The threat landscape

Executives are high-value, low-effort targets. A cloned LinkedIn profile or fake email account can run a phishing campaign in your CEO's name for weeks before anyone notices. It takes no breach, just a public-facing leadership team.

The existing tools gap

Executive risk falls between the security team and personal security, so teams end up searching manually or waiting for incidents to be reported. Styx closes that gap by continuously monitoring for and taking down impersonation attempts.

CAPABILITIES

Every threat aimed at your leaders, monitored in one place

Digital executive protection

Detects impersonating profiles and lookalike accounts across social and messaging platforms, and acts before a fake post or message reaches customers, employees, or partners.

- Cloned LinkedIn profiles, fake email accounts, and lookalike handles
- A monitored profile per executive, so risk is tracked person by person

Online presence monitoring

Tracks executive mentions across social, news, and forums, flagging sentiment shifts and reputational risk before they grow into a bigger story.

- Sentiment scoring for each executive across news and social channels
- Early warning on negative narratives targeting your leadership

Personal information exposure

Monitors the surface, deep, and dark web for leaked executive data such as credentials, home addresses, and financial records.

- Coverage of data broker sites, breach dumps, and dark web sources
- Removal of exposed personal data pursued through the appropriate channels

Real-time alerts & automated takedowns

The moment an executive is impersonated or targeted, Styx alerts your team and helps take it down.

- High-risk threats prioritized, with resolution status visible for reporting to execs
- Analyst triage on every finding, so leaders aren't flooded with low-value alerts

01

Stop impersonation before others see it

Continuous detection across social, email, and web. Action starts the moment something surfaces.

02

Manage reputational risk without adding headcount

Built for lean security teams, so executive monitoring doesn't mean staffing for it.

03

Prevent executive risk from becoming a board conversation

Threats get resolved before they escalate into something you have to explain to your board.
